INTRODUCTION

This report sets forth our analysis of the 1,090 solicitation provisions, contract clauses, and alternates¹ in the Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR) and the DoD FAR Supplement (DFARS). Contract clauses and solicitation provisions – hereafter simply called “clauses” – are a principal means of implementing the policies contained in the acquisition regulations.

The report presents such information about the clauses as whether their origin is statutory or nonstatutory. “Statutory” is used here to embrace clauses based on law, Executive order, Office of Management and Budget (OMB) circular, Office of Federal Procurement Policy (OFPP) policy letter, other executive branch directive, or nonprocurement regulation published in the Code of Federal Regulations. The report also indicates whether the clause flows down to subcontractors and the tier to which flowdown occurs. Finally, Chapter 4 analyzes the clauses and provides recommendations regarding them.

In addition to furnishing these factual data, we have evaluated each clause and provided a recommendation regarding it. A clause may be a candidate for elimination or modification because of duplication, obsolescence, policy conflicts, or absence of need for it. Or it may need redrafting because it is unclear, redundant, or inconsistent. We make a recommendation for disposition of each clause, including elimination, simplification, removal of inconsistencies, or retention as is.

Our analysis covers all 639 FAR and 451 DFARS clauses and alternates through Federal Acquisition Circular (FAC) 84-51 and Defense Acquisition Circular (DAC) 88-10, regardless of origin. Some clauses proposed for modification are based on statute, and their modification may require legislative action. Nonstatutory FAR and DFARS clauses can be modified or eliminated more easily, by action of the ¹Provisions are used in solicitations and apply before contract award. Typically they are notices and instructions on preparing and submitting offers, or certifications and representations required with offer submissions. Clauses are used in contracts but appear also in the solicitation, for the purpose of informing offerors of the terms and conditions that will apply if their offer is accepted. These clauses generally specify rights and duties of the contracting parties. Alternates give language to be added to or deleted from a standard clause (or substituted for language in it) to tailor the clause for use in specific circumstances.

The alternate is mandatory for use when a single contract document is used for both the prime contract and the subcontract with the 8(a) concern (19.809-1(c)). A single document cannot be used when SBA makes advance payments to an 8(a) firm. Because advance payments are not routine, the basic clause should be the exception, and should thus be Alternate I. The current alternate should be revised to become the basic clause.

* RATIONALE *

Provision requires offeror to certify by signing offer that the offeror complies with the specification's required use of recovered materials. This clause is unnecessary, since contractor must comply with the specification anyway. Law calls for certification of minimum recovered materials content but offer accomplishes this, provided specifications state requirement for recovered materials.

----------	--	-----------------------	--------	----------	----	--	-----

CONCLUSION CODE(S): OK RECOMMENDATION CODE(S): OK

* RATIONALE * * REMARKS *

Short, concise, clear clause. Since leased equipment remains the contractor's property, State and local taxes vary widely in their application. This is a legitimate attempt to ensure that the Government is taking all available tax exemptions.

Federal, State, and local jurisdictions impose taxes on sale and/or use of supplies/services. All grant exemptions in various amounts and circumstances when the Federal Government is the ultimate user/purchaser. These clauses, while not mandated by law, comprise the Government's effort to take maximum advantage of these exemptions (See also 26 USC 4041 et seq.; 26 CFR 40-299; 26 USC 4293; 26 USC 4483(b) for Federal coverage).

		"This clause is almost identical to the clause at DFARS 252.236-7019, Accident Prevention, published in DAG 88-10. Also, in paragraph (d) it should be clarified that the corrective action the contractor must take is the action specified by the CO. See proposed correction under remarks.	The Work Hours and Safety Act of 1962 provides that the Secretary of Labor shall issue rules for the safety of workers in public works construction. 40 USC 329 covers public works contracting. 40 USC 333 requires the Secretary to issue safety rules for the construction industry -- all public contracts and subcontracts are covered. Commercial counterpart: AIA Document A201, Paras. 4.2.3 and 10. In paragraph (d), third sentence, insert the words "the required" between the words "take" and "corrective." Same in fourth sentence. Also in the fourth sentence, delete the word "satisfactory" and add to the end of the sentence the following: "that is satisfactory to the contracting officer." See also 52.236-7.

CONCLUSION CODE(S): I PW

RECOMMENDATION CODE(S): EI SL

* RATIONALE *

The clause prescription needs a minor editorial change. Also it should be clarified that the contractor's duty to conserve utilities -- third sentence of paragraph (a) -- is subject to the direction of the CO, if the CO finds inadequate contractor attention.

* REMARKS *

In the clause prescription at 52.236-14, delete the word "when" after the word "sites," and insert that in lieu thereof ", and." Add language that makes it clear the CO can direct contractor actions to conserve utilities.

RECOMMENDATION CODE(S): ED SL

* RATIONALE *

The DFARS clauses at 252.236-7012 and 252.236-7013 make this clause virtually redundant. They should be consolidated with this clause, perhaps as alternates. In paragraph (b), third sentence, the actions listed for the contractor to take are only examples of actions the CO might direct. This should be clarified and language added that the CO may direct other actions as appropriate.

Law requires only a notice for cost and CPFF contracts, yet clause requires both notice and consent under all cost-reimbursement and letter contracts.		Notice should be required in accordance with the law for all prime contracts. Consent should be required only for those contracts awarded without adequate price competition or where the contractor has no approved purchasing system. Remove fee limitations of FAR 15.903(d). However, include in Part 31 as an unallowable cost. History includes PL 80-65, CH4, 62 Stat 23 (repealed). See also 52.244-5.
